Two Young Lovers Await Death Hour In Lonely Grove

Boy and Girl Go From Church to Carry Out Suicide Pact, But Shot That Kills Him Brings Man to Scene.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Chicago, May 16.—Last night, at Petersburg, Ind., Lawrence Church and Leola Bailey went to church together. They were very solemn and quiet, because it was the last time they were going to church. Lawrence had made up his mind to kill himself in the morning. They were only boy and girl. He was 15 and she 16, but he had reasoned it out quite calmly and deliberately.

"My mother doesn't want me to go with you," he said. "I can't do without you, and there isn't anything else to do. I am going to shoot myself at 3:30 in the morning."

After church they went to the grove near the railroad tracks. It had always been sacred to sweethearts, that grove. Now it was to be the trying place of death.

Root Supporters May Shift Affections to Hughes—Fairbanks Boomed for Running Mate.

The conviction is steadily growing among political leaders in Washington that Justice Charles E. Hughes will be the longest hour of the day. Nothing in the world seemed alive but the boy and girl, out there alone in the darkness under the ragged clouds.

"What time is it?" "It is 11:17." "Struck a match. It went out. Another which she held in the cup of her hands. The watch showed the fatal moment had arrived.

"Good-by," he said, and fired. A watchman on the railroad track heard the shot and ran to her. The boy was dead and she was kneeling over him. It was a long time before she could tell the story.

Senator Fletcher, of Florida, a member of the International High Commission which recently visited South America, last night explained to the Florida Society the incident at Lima and Callao, Peru, when the party was denied permission to land because of bubonic plague in the harbor.

The party, traveling aboard the battleship Tennessee, was not permitted to land by the vessel's captain when they were there, because of bubonic plague in the harbor.

The cost of living in many of the South American countries nearly twice as great as in the United States, he said. He talked of the trip through the Panama Canal and declared it was the general opinion of officers there that the canal had seen its last big slide.

HOWLAND, OF BUFFALO, HEADS MUSEUM MEN

Secretary Paul Rea, Who Advocates New Educational Plan, Is Defeated for Vice Presidency.

Henry H. Howland, superintendent of the Buffalo Society of Natural Sciences, was elected president of the American Association of Museums yesterday afternoon. Other officers elected were: Newton H. Carpenter, director of the Art Institute of Chicago, vice president; Paul Rea, of the Charleston Museum, Charleston, S. C., secretary; and Dr. William B. Woodworth, director of the Philadelphia Museum, treasurer.

The opinions of members of the resolution submitted Monday, placing the museums of the country on a progressive educational basis, was shown in the votes cast for the new officers. The resolution was submitted as the result of a special report by Secretary Paul Rea.

Mr. Rea was nominated for the office of vice president, but was defeated by a narrow margin on the second ballot after tieing with Newton H. Carpenter on the first ballot. Mr. Rea in turn was nominated for the office of secretary and, though he withdrew his name, was elected by a majority of seven. The election was made unanimous by the withdrawal of the other candidates.

Women Envoys Make Suffrage Plea Beneath Capitol Dome

With Roses Strewn Before Them, Congressional Union Leaders Enter City, After Long Western Tour, to Present Ultimatum to Congress.

representative Niillard, Senator Smoot, Representative Timberlake, Senator Sterling, Senator Gronna, Senator Sheppard and Senator Thompson.

This afternoon Mrs. William Kent is to give a garden party for the returned envoys and the delegates at her residence, 1925 F street northwest. A string orchestra will furnish the music, and assisting the hostess will be Mrs. S. M. B. Young, Mrs. Richard Wainwright, Mrs. Boughton Wood, Mrs. J. J. White, Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, Mrs. Christian Hemmick, Mrs. John A. Logan, Mrs. John D. Works, Mrs. Julius Kahn, Miss Alice Paul, Miss Nina E. Allender and Mrs. Ferree Brinton, of Pennsylvania, house guest of Mrs. Kent.

"The Democrats will lose the West if they do not pass the national woman's suffrage amendment in this session of Congress," said Mrs. Robert Baker, was correspondent of the "Suffrage Special," to the 300 women attending the luncheon with which the Woman's Congressional Union yesterday welcomed its returning envoys from their 10,000-mile sweep through the West.

"Western men take the political activities of women very seriously," Mrs. Baker continued. "There was no editor with whom I talked who did not realize how charged with dynamite a woman's party would be. Some were angry, some raged, and some deplored the situation, but they all took it seriously."

Following the luncheon, and the speeches, the party, 300 strong, escorted the delegates from two voting States, who had joined the envoys at the Salt Lake Conference of Woman Votes on May 12, to the Capitol, where they were to present to their representatives in the conference the resolution adopted by the conference.

The flower girls were Ruth Hamby, Letitia Wagstaff, Margaret Maize, Helen Plummer, Elinor Bull, and Evelyn McDonald.

Under the dome in the rotunda of the Capitol a large group of Senators and Representatives had gathered to receive the delegation, and as the women approached, Senators Mondell and Sutherland and Mr. Baker stepped forward to greet them.

Mrs. John Rogers, of New York, introduced the speakers for the women: Mrs. Elizabeth Gerfending, of California; Mrs. Wallis Williams, of Washington; Mrs. C. S. Hall, of Montana; Miss Alise Louise Reynolds, of Utah; Miss Anne, and Miss Florence B. Hilles, who presented the conference resolution.

The resolution calls upon the Democratic party to pass the national suffrage amendment on to the State legislatures for ratification. It further states a determination "to organize our political strength in support of this measure for use if necessary in the next national election without considering the interest of any political party."

Among the members of Congress who received the resolution were Senator La Follette, Representatives L. H. Hadley, A. Johnson, Guy T. Helvering, N. J. Sinnott, Senator Wiley, Jones, Representative William Kettner, Senator Harry Lane, Senator Key Pittman, Representatives Williams, Dyer, McKenzie and Keating, Senator Clarke, Representatives Kent, Stephens, Mondell, Humphrey, C.
